ALEXANDRIA, VA., WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 18, 1905.

PRICE 2 CENTS.

DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY.

Do you feel tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at night unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too feeble to digest food? Do you feel a general weakness, and a loss of energy? Do you feel a general weakness, and a loss of energy? Do you feel a general weakness, and a loss of energy?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your sluggish liver to work. It will get into every vein in your body and purify your blood. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about speedy cure in 99 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.

O. A. Cooper, Esq., of Mount Union, Huntington Co., Pa. (Box 122), writes: "About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until I could scarcely breathe, and vomiting of a yellow water. A physician told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. Another physician told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better but only for a short time. I then tried another one, who said I had chronic indigestion, ulceration of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year and I felt much better, but it did not last. I then used several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicine, his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

MEN ARE POWERLESS

To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff and Falling Hair, with irritants or oils on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like scooping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.

You cannot accomplish a satisfactory cure without having a right understanding of the fundamental causes of the trouble.

You must kill the Dandruff Germ. Newbros' Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing. When the germ is removed, the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Largest Ship in the World.

The Amerika, the largest ship in the world, which has sailed from Hamburg for New York, is 687 feet long, 74 feet 6 inches wide and 53 feet deep. She can carry about 4,000 passengers and crew. It was only last April that she was launched at Belfast, and the placing in her of her machinery, etc., has been accomplished with remarkable speed.

With the maiden voyage of this vessel almost the last distinction between life on an ocean liner and that in a first-class modern hotel disappears. The Amerika has an a la carte restaurant, open day and night, and it is understood that if passengers desire they can pay for transportation only and buy their meals on board. The vessel has electric elevators from one deck to another, telephones from the staterooms to the restaurant and other parts of the ship, florist's shop, gymnasium, trained nurses, a nursery for children and electric and hydropathic baths.

The a la carte restaurant is on the sixth deck, and will seat about 120 persons. It is under the management of the Ritz Hotel Company. It is decorated in the Renaissance style. The main dining-saloon is decorated in the Louis XVI. style, and is 100 feet long and as wide as the ship. The smoking-room is in the English Elizabethan style, and has a huge fireplace. It is the loftiest apartment on the ship, extending through two decks.

None of the staterooms on the vessel has upper berths.

Warns America.

Privy Councillor Goldberger, an authority on the tariff question, has just published in the Berlin Tageblatt an article which has excited much attention in that city. In it he discusses the question of a reciprocal treaty commercially between the United States and Germany.

Although at present the Americans are in a contented mood, he says, owing to their prosperity, the time will come when their demands will diminish, and the States will absolutely need a larger export trade for the country's enormous industries.

If reciprocal treaties are not concluded then the United States will find the door of all the European States, especially those of Germany, closed to them.

Herr Goldberger admits, however, that for the moment there is no hope of the reversion of the American tariff.

"Everything in the United States," he says, "points to the rejection by Congress of President Roosevelt's proposals for the reform of the railway tariff. In addition to this, the American Protective Tariff League is displaying the greatest activity, both among electors and members of Congress, to prove any concessions on protection to be a danger to trade. Henry Litchfield West, however, raises a warning voice that if no reciprocity treaty is concluded with Germany the most-favored nation clause will cease to exist, and in the end all European nations will continue to oppose the United States with protective tariffs."

Woman Thief.

Released Monday from the State prison at Auburn, N. Y., Helen Wilson, 30 years old, was arraigned before a magistrate in Philadelphia yesterday charged with the theft of $2,500 worth of jewelry and silverware from Mrs. A. H. Seaman, of that city. The robbery was committed in 1901. The woman secured a position as maid to Mrs. Seaman, and while the family were away during the summer of 1901 the woman was left in charge of their town house. She is said to have taken the jewelry and silverware and disappeared.

The woman is a perfect vision of beauty. Her natural blonde hair, luxuriant and shimmering, arranged in stylish coils, crowned a well-rounded head, and her perfect complexion, Grecian features and smiling eyes elicited a murmur of admiration. According to police records of the country the woman has a record as a female thief that rivals any of its kind. Her great beauty has made theft easy, and on scores of occasions is said to have gained her a leniency that a homely face would never have received.

According to these records, she has robbed scores of people in the east, and her favorite mode of proceeding was to secure employment as a lady's maid, gain the confidence of her employer, and when accorded a position of trust, abscond with all the jewels and silver in sight.

Could Not Be Better.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has won for it a wide reputation and many people throughout the country will agree with Mr. Chas. W. Mattison, of Milford, Va., who says: "It works like magic, and is the best preparation I know of. It couldn't be any better." He had a serious attack of dysentery and was advised to try a bottle of this remedy, which he did, with the result that immediate relief was obtained. For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

House Work

Need Not Wear Her Out

The drudgery of house work seems never ending to tired-out, dispirited women who suffer from female complaints or irregularities. Inflammation and ulceration of the womb and ovaries cause fearful bearing down pains which are aggravated by much standing on the feet, and lifting necessary in house work.

But let no woman despair of relief from this torture. That famous tonic reconstructor of diseased or disordered female organism, has cured more than one million American Women, and it will cure you. When monthly periods are painful or irregular, when backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring back health, strength, and happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

It Gave Me New Life and Vigor

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Last spring, while we were moving, I did considerable more work than my strength permitted, and, having mental trouble at the same time, my health broke down completely and I found myself unable to rest or eat. My nervous system became shattered and I was pale and emaciated and had to take my bed. My sister advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, although I had no faith in patent medicines, I was so miserable that I would take anything for relief. I found that it made a complete change for the better, inducing appetite and restful sleep and imparting new life and vigor to my entire system. I gained nearly fourteen pounds, my complexion looked fresh and clear, and my best friends were surprised and pleased at the change and could hardly credit the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had accomplished it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures Where Others Fail

Says Filipinos Hate Us.

Senator Dubois, of Idaho, who went to the Philippines with Secretary Taft, was not one of those who became enthusiastic over the desirability of the islands as a possession of the United States. "There was not more than one member of the entire party who was not sorry we owned the Philippine Islands," said Secretary Taft himself. "The islands are going to be a source of very serious trouble to us. The Filipinos hate us. The two people are growing farther apart every day. The Filipino fears our soldiers; at the same time he is nursing his hatred. Our education is calculated to equip them to hate us more than they fear us, and some day they will again begin to shoot our soldiers."

Frightful Suffering Relieved.

Suffering frightfully from the violent poisons of undigested food, C. G. Grayson, of Lino, Miss., took Dr. King's New Life Pills, "with the result," he writes, "that I was cured." All stomach and bowel disorders give way to their tonic, laxative properties. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists, guaranteed.

Faith Not Necessary.

You may be just as skeptical and pessimistic as you please. Kodol will digest what you eat whether you eat or not. You can put your food in a bowl, pour a little Kodol Dyspepsia Cure on it and it will digest it the same as it will in your stomach. It can't help but cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It is curing hundreds and thousands—some had faith and some didn't. Kodol will cure you if medicine can cure you, whether you have faith in it or not. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co. 401 King Street.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCT. 18, 1905.

THE LID was lifted from the insurance scandal higher than ever in New York yesterday, when Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, resumed the witness stand before the Legislative Investigating Committee. No longer was there any effort to disguise the fact that vast sums of money have been expended for the suppression and control of adverse legislation. Three instances of insurance commissioners accepting fees for protecting insurance interests were forced into view by the evidence thrust into the hands of Mr. McCurdy by the relentless counsel for the committee, Hughes. Not only was it admitted that money was paid legislators and their friends, but the Mutual's president actually sought to justify this course. He termed it "educating legislators," and he went into interesting details. Thirty thousand dollars was paid to a discharged agent of the Mutual Life for the settlement of a suit brought by him against the company. He had information that created clamoring among policy holders, and Mr. McCurdy admitted that the suit was settled to end the agitation. A house was rented in Albany by the company for its lobbyists during a session of the Legislature. These lobbyists had all the money they wanted to spend for "legal services." Evidence was produced to show that dividends have fallen off until certain policy holders have protested. Meanwhile salaries soared. Angered by the searching questions fired at him and by the sarcastic comments upon his own seeming lack of knowledge of the affairs of his company, President McCurdy enlivened investigation by suddenly exclaiming to Chief Inquisitor Hughes, "You are trying to prove me a fool." Quick as a flash, Attorney Hughes came back at McCurdy with the biting retort: "Without commenting upon that which obviously requires no comment, let me ask you to tell us, to the best of your ability, some of the lines on which your company is conducted." The session throughout was exciting, and only the repeated threats of Senator Armstrong, chairman of the committee, to clear the room prevented violent demonstrations of disapprobation of Mr. McCurdy, who was the sole witness.

THE SPIRIT of lawlessness seems to be on the increase all over the world. Chronic disorders exist in some places, while they are sporadic in other quarters. The proceedings in Philadelphia Monday night show that the United States is by no means immune. Philadelphia, historic city of brotherly love, was convulsed by a mob which the police acknowledged they were unable to handle, and excited men and women marched to and fro heaping anathemas upon the heads of certain men who had incurred their political displeasure. They surrounded the houses of those to whom they desired to show their resentment and made significant threats. Such exhibitions are a disgrace to any community, apart from the dangerous example set by thoughtless and irresponsible people who feed upon excitement. With no purpose to make excuses for those who have fattened upon graft in Philadelphia and with an earnest sympathy for the officials who are striving to bring about more honest and satisfactory conditions, it may be observed that reform movements should not be conducted by mobs or disorderly crusades against those who are guilty of breaches of public trust. The power of the ballot and the courts can right all such evils much better and more satisfactorily than seething masses of men and women in nocturnal exhibitions of their wrath.

IN AN OPEN letter Senator Isidor Rayner, of Maryland, announces his opposition to the proposed suffrage amendment to the Constitution of that State. The party which made him a Senator has declared for the amendment, so Mr. Rayner has put himself in opposition to the wishes of the men who elected him to his present position. He has been known as a kicker in Maryland for some years and true democrats have never wondered at Senator Gorman's opposition to him. Why any white man should oppose the amendment, is more than passing strange.

JUDGE L. L. LEWIS denies the charge of Congressman Jones that he opposed the bill to prevent intermarriage of the races in Virginia. Mr. Jones announces his intention of proving what he said. It is hoped for the sake of the white people of Virginia that Judge Lewis did not oppose the bill referred to, but during that time he was a bitter partisan against his own people and now does not deny that he urged the sending of federal troops into the State during reconstruction times.

THE Philadelphia chief of police stated before an investigating committee yesterday that the police had orders not to molest "repeaters" on polling days. The wonder is that Philadelphia, under the rule of the "gang," does not give one hundred and seventy-five instead of seventy-five thousand majority.

JUDGE WADDILL, of the U. S. District Court, did the sensible thing in Richmond today, when he sustained the motion of the Commonwealth to quash the proceedings brought by two prisoners in which they tried to bring in the question of the constitutionality of the act of Congress retroceding Alexandria county back to the State of Virginia. The very idea of criminals, to save a fine and to prevent an imposition of a jail sentence, endeavoring to set aside an act of Congress and to thereby have a whole county put under the control of the District of Columbia, is too preposterous to be seriously considered.

AUSTIN ADAMS, at one time a minister of an Episcopal Church in New York, later a convert to Catholicism and now a lecturer on literary and aesthetic subjects, is again in the limelight. He is now located in Seattle, Wash., and is endeavoring to secure a divorce from his wife on the grounds of incompatibility.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.) Washington, D. C., Oct. 17. Those "princely" gifts which Miss Alice Roosevelt is about to bring to the United States, gifts of such value that if the Dingley duty should be exacted on them President Roosevelt might have to contribute about a year's salary to the revenues of the government, are now pronounced to be a collection of counterfeit phones, junk, rubbish, or the like. That is why Miss Alice will be permitted to pay the duty on them. If they had really been worth anything like the hundred thousand or two, Secretary of the Treasury Shaw would have asked Congress to remit the duty. Secretary of War Taft told some of his cabinet friends most all the presents she had received when he left her wouldn't bring $150 at auction. And those beautiful pearls, four of them, donated by the Sultan of Sulu could be duplicated in the United States for $50 all four of them. It now seems certain that the board of consulting engineers of the Isthmian Canal Commission, who returned to this city today from a trip to the Isthmus of Panama, will recommend that the canal be of the "lock" construction and not a sea-level canal. After carefully examining the structure of the land through which the canal is being cut and the other features bearing upon the canal construction, the members of the consulting board are nearly unanimously of the opinion that the canal will have to have locks and cannot well be a sea-level canal. The board of engineers are convinced that the canal can be constructed along the lines thus far decided upon by the United States Government. There is still, it is said, an apparent lack of administrative unity in connection with canal matters and it is the belief of many of the engineers that radical changes will have to be made in the present organization of the Canal Commission and its methods of doing business. This is, of course, the opinion of the engineers who are not in any sense of the word members of the Commission, but who are experts in their line and have recently had an excellent opportunity to observe the methods pursued by the commission.

Chairman Shivers, of the Isthmian Canal Commission, this afternoon gave out a statement of his observations during his recent trip to the canal zone. He said that he heard nothing but good things from the employees as to their present surroundings and future prospects. He complimented highly Chief Engineer Stevens' methods and personality. Regarding health conditions, he said the situation was steadily improving. Henry Sincell, 48 years of age, died at the Homeopathic Hospital this morning at 4:40 as the result of a fracture of the skull received by being struck by a street car yesterday afternoon at 7th and P streets, northwest. The coroner, Dr. Nevitt, will hold an inquest over the body today. The conductor and motor-man were arrested.

The new order of the President, issued yesterday, whereby Cabinet officers may dismiss, without a hearing, employees of whose inefficiency or misconduct the head of the department is satisfied through personal knowledge or otherwise is expected to result in a general weeding out of clerks and other subordinates, whose work has been deficient, but who have hitherto been protected in their positions. The feature of the civil service regulations hitherto in force which gave the employe the opportunity of a full hearing, has considerably handicapped the work of the government departments especially in Washington. It is not always possible, Cabinet officers have to the President to prove a man's inefficiency even when it is patent to the chief of the bureau or department, and it is not always wise to air the circumstances surrounding a case of misconduct. While the change in the regulations given to the President and his cabinet officers almost unlimited power over the tenure of office of employes, the President "expects that the prerogative will be exercised carefully." The publication of the order has created more or less consternation among the 25,000 office holders here and it is generally believed that many a democrat will be removed and his place given to a republican.

On schedule time President Roosevelt left Washington this morning on his trip through the South. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary Loeb, Surgeon General Rixey and a few guests and attendants occupying a special train of four Pullmans. A squad of blue coats, plain clothes men and secret service sleuths, together with Chief John Wilkie and Aulick Palmer, United States Marshal for the District, saw that everything was correct and safely insured. Col. L. S. Brown, general agent of the Southern Railway Company, accompanied the party. The President's car used on this trip is the Signet, one of the most elaborately equipped Pullmans in service.

Shouting goodbyes the President stood on the rear platform of his car, with Mrs. Roosevelt just behind him in the door smiling, until the train had passed out of the shed and was on its way to Dixie. Mail advices from Hongkong are to the effect that the visit of Miss Alice Roosevelt was slightly marred by the brutality of a cartoon published by a Chinese newspaper there. It depicted Miss Alice riding in a chair and carried by four tortoises. There is nothing suggestive in the caricature to the Occidental mind, but to the Oriental it carries an intentional insult of the grossest nature. The Hongkong authorities took immediate notice of the offense and the two responsible editors were banished from the colony for a term of five years. They were sent to Canton, in charge of an officer by the Kinsman, the same boat that transported members of the Tait party.

The Manila papers comment with satisfaction upon the speediness with which the British meted out justice and point to it as an example worthy of emulation.

Before the Interstate Commerce Commission, hearings were begun today looking into the relations of the railroads of this country to the refrigerating car lines. The importance of these hearings is the evident as Congress, with two months, will begin consideration of the same problems involved in this inquiry, which will probably continue for a week.

The man who says that his real name is Morton, was a former resident of Manchester and answers the description of the man wanted perfectly. He denies all knowledge of the crime.

Robert Hoy was yesterday granted an absolute divorce from Mary E. Hoy in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. The suit was originally begun about five years ago, when Mrs. Hoy instituted proceedings for separate maintenance. Soon afterward Mr. Hoy began suit for an absolute divorce, this causing, it is stated, Mrs. Hoy to withdraw her original suit and file a cross-bill asking for an absolute separation. The court yesterday dismissed the cross-bill and announced the decision in favor of Mr. Hoy. Mrs. Hoy's attorney immediately announced that an appeal to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia would be taken.

Miss Smallwood's Death.

It was admitted Monday by a coroner's jury, which inquired into the case of Emma Smallwood, the domestic who was employed in the family of Col. John Hancock and died at his country home at Collingswood, Md., according to the evidence revealed by the autopsy, as the result of a criminal operation, that the arrest of Winfield S. Hancock, son of Colonel Hancock, was not the result of any specific evidence yet given before the jury, but only of circumstantial evidence based chiefly on the discrepancy of the statement of young Hancock and his sister, Mrs. Amanda Mackall, Dr. G. W. Latimer, and the medical evidence, and those who viewed the body the night that the death was performed.

The hearing, postponed Monday night on account of the disorder existing in the office of Attorney Wells, where it had been intended to hold it, was again delayed twice yesterday to await the decision of Judge George Merrick, of the Circuit Court, and Attorney-General William S. Bryan, both of whom decided that Coroner Arthur Carr had a perfect right to decide that the hearing should be secret and not public, as Robert W. Wells, attorney for the defense, demanded.

Justice Carr said it would most probably be several days before the jurors were again summoned. Hancock is still in the jail at Upper Marlboro, to which he was spirited Monday night as the result of rumors that an attempt would be made by relatives of the dead woman and others to take the prisoner from the Hyattsville lockup.

THE PRESIDENT IN RICHMOND.

President Roosevelt was tendered a hearty reception upon his arrival in Richmond about noon today. The programme which had been prepared was carried out in most of its details. The President later delivered an address. Among other things he said:

"I trust I need hardly say how great is my pleasure at speaking in this historic capital of your historic State; the State than which no other has contributed a larger portion to the leadership of the nation; for on the honor roll of those Americans worthies whose greatness is not only for the age but for all time, not only for one nation but for the world, on this honor roll Virginia's name stands above all others. And in greeting all of you, I know that no one will grudge my saying a special word of acknowledgment to the veterans of the civil war. A man would indeed be but a poor American who could without a thrill witness the way in which, in city after city in the North as in the South, on every public occasion, the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray now march and stand shoulder to shoulder, giving tangible proof that we are all now in fact as well as in name a reunited people, a people infinitely richer because of the priceless memories left to all Americans by you men who fought in the great war. Last Memorial Day I spoke in Brooklyn, at the unveiling of the statue of a northern general, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, and that great audience cheered every allusion to the valor and self-devotion of the men who followed Lee as heartily as they cheered every allusion to the valor and self-devotion of the men who followed Grant. The wounds left by the great civil war have long healed, but its memory remains. Think of it, O my countrymen, think of the good fortune that is ours! That whereas every other war of modern times has left feelings of rancor and bitterness to keep sunder the combatants, our great war has left to the sons and daughters of the men who fought, on whichever side they fought, the same right to feel the keenest pride in the great deeds alike of the men who fought on one side and of the men who fought on the other. The proud self-sacrifice, the resolute and daring courage, the high and steadfast devotion to the right as each man saw it, whether northern or southern, these qualities render all Americans forever the debtors of those who in the dark days from '61 to '65 proved their truth by their endeavor. Here around Richmond, here in your own State, there lies battlefield after battlefield, rendered forever memorable by the men who counted death as but a little thing when weighed in the balance against doing their duty as it was given them to see it. These men have left us of the younger generation not merely the memory of what they did in war, but of what they did in peace. Foreign observers predicted that such a great war would close it would be impossible for the hundreds of thousands of combatants to return to the paths of peace. They predicted ceaseless disorder, wild turbulence, the alteration of anarchy and despotism. But the good sense and self-restraint of the average American citizen falsified these prophecies. The great armies disbanded and the private in the ranks, like the officer who had commanded him, went back to take up the threads of his life where he had dropped them when the call to arms came. Great though the need of peace is which is due to South for the soldierly valor he has displayed during the four years of war, I think that even greater praise is due to her for what her people have accomplished in the forty years of peace which followed. The Continental troops in their blue and buff, who fought under Washington and Greene and Wayne, differed entirely in training from those who in blue or gray faced one another in the armies of Grant and Lee, of Sherman and of Johnston. And now the sons of these same Union and Confederate veterans who serve in our gallant little army of today, wear a different uniform, carry a different weapon, and practice different tactics. But the soul of the soldier has remained the same throughout, and the qualities which drove forward to victory or to death the men of '76 and the men of '61, are the very qualities which the men of today must keep unchanged if in the hour of need the honor of the nation is to be kept untarnished."

Some Seasonable Advice. It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Today's Telegraphic News.

THE PRESIDENT'S TOUR.

Ashland, Va., Oct. 18.—The President's train arrived at Fredericksburg at 11 a. m. and reached here about 12 m. A small crowd of townspeople gathered around the train. The President came out and made a short speech. He said: "My fellow citizens: I am glad to see the people of the Old Dominion, the State hallowed with memories of the mighty men it has produced and of the mighty deeds it has seen enacted upon it. I know you people well already; I know your history, of course, or I would not be a good American. I wish to say to you with my heart how glad I am to have the chance of starting through your State to visit the South Atlantic and Gulf. When I am through with my present trip I will have been into and spoke in every State of the Union during my tour as President. There is one thing that has struck me more than anything else in my journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Canada line to the Gulf, and that is in meeting the different audiences, they are fundamentally alike; that wherever you go in this country the average American is a decent fellow, and that all that is necessary in order to make him get along well with the other average American is that they should know one another." The President in his speech paid a tribute to Randolph-Macon College, and in doing so referred to Patrick Henry and Henry Clay.

The crowd cheered as the train drew out from the station. Below Fredericksburg on a little mound beside the track in a particularly wild looking neighborhood, where one expected to see none but red-shirted moonshiners or awfully backward men, there was a man all tugged out in Prince Albert coat and high hat. Not another person was in sight as the President's train whirled by. The distinguished personage took off his hat and made a sweeping bow.

In Hanover county, at the North Anna river, there was a group of ten young ladies all dressed in white, standing beside the railroad. One of them was seated upon a horse and held a large American flag, which she waved as long as the presidential special was in sight.

President's Reception in Richmond. [Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.] Richmond, Va., Oct. 18.—President Roosevelt's reception in Richmond, was as warm as the sun which overcast the line of march into a summer pageant. All the stores, factories and schools were closed, and apparently half of Richmond's people were gathered in the streets about the station, when he arrived. Governor Montague and Senators Daniel and Martin headed the committee of citizens which met the distinguished guest at the station.

After the committee had been properly introduced to the President aboard his car, the party took carriages for a short drive to the Governor's mansion, where more handshaking took place. The business houses and residences along the route were decorated with bunting and American flags. While the President and Governor Montague drove to the mansion by one route, Mrs. Roosevelt took a carriage ride to the same objective point with Mrs. Montague, and an escort by another way.

After a brief stop at the Governor's mansion the President was escorted to Capitol Square, where he made an address to a huge throng. The President was then driven to Masonic Hall, where luncheon was served. Following luncheon, there was a drive about the city suburbs to various historic places. At 7 p. m. the President will resume his southward journey.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 18.—The President was greeted by a tremendous ovation here today. Thousands of people lined the streets along which the party passed and cheered Mr. Roosevelt. On the instant that the President's train arrived at the Main street station hundreds of steam whistles set up a hoarse salute. The President's head was continually uncovered throughout the long drive answering the salutations of the people. A large number of college girls were grouped in the steps of a building and sang the national anthem as the President passed. He seemed deeply touched by the demonstration of affection.

Countless people lined the Capitol Square while the President was speaking. He was introduced by Governor A. J. Montague. A banquet, at which 300 people were seated, was tendered the President at Masonic Temple Mayor Carlton McCarty in the name of the city acted as the President's host.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who accompanied her husband, will be tendered a reception at the Governor's mansion this afternoon. The presidential party will leave for the south at 7 o'clock.

The city is more greatly decorated than at any time in its history. The 70th regiment infantry, Virginia volunteers, and Virginia military institute cadets acted as official escort to the President.

New London Thoroughfare.

London, Oct. 18.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra today participated in the ceremony with which the new thoroughfare from the Strand to Holborn, the Aldwych and kingway, was opened. The opening of this street marks the completion of the most important improvement of the kind made in London in 85 years. The new street is three quarters of a mile long and 100 feet wide. It runs directly through what was formerly one of the worst slums of London. The roadway was constructed at a cost of $30,000,000 to the city; most of the money having been expended in buying the houses which occupied the site of the roadway. The city expects to regain $20,000,000, for the leasing of unused land. It has taken six years to complete the work.

Murder in Chinatown.

New York, Oct. 18.—Loosey Hung, Lieutenant of Mock Duck, the leader of the Hip Sing Tong, died early today at the Hudson hospital from a bullet wound in the abdomen inflicted by Tam Who Stay, a member of the On Long Tong, a rival organization. The shooting was the result of another outbreak between the rival organizations which have maintained an armed truce for some weeks past. The affair occurred at 10 o'clock last night, when Chinatown was in full blast and for an hour after the shooting there was great excitement in the district. The assassination occurred in the street in front of No. 4 Mott street. There were no preliminaries to the shooting. Woo Tay met Hung and pressing a big calibre revolver against his stomach fired. Woo Tay fled to No. 11 Mott street and Hung, with his abdomen torn open, ran after him. When found by the police Hung lay on a table in a little back room five flights up in No. 11 Mott street. He was found hiding in the cellar by the police. He was taken to the Hudson street hospital, where his victim promptly identified him. Hung lived for some hours.

Inherits $5,000,000.

Boston, Oct. 18.—Eighty years old, living with her daughter in a little house in Peabody at 5 Nicholas Lane, Mrs. Hannah D. Nugent says she has just been notified that her claim to one fifth of a fortune amounting in all to approximately $15,000,000 has been proved. The story is told is that George Rhodes, one of the first settlers at Jamestown, Va., 299 years ago, died leaving an estate in England which comprises what is now the entire town of Rhodes. This estate is valued at $800,000, and its present value represents the accrued interest and principal. Rhodes, it is alleged, had a patent from the English government for land near Jamestown, and with three small vessels and 105 men entered the mouth of the James river December 19 1606. When he died his children made no effort to obtain possession of his property in England, and it has passed into the hands of the court of chancery. Samuel O. Rhodes, the father of Mrs. Nugent, went to England in 1860 to claim the estate. He died 20 years ago and his children continued the contest for the property, employing American lawyers. It is these lawyers who are said to have notified Mrs. Nugent of the success obtained.

Prisoners Tortured.

Warsaw, Oct. 18.—Two prisoners by the names of Shultz and Engart, who are charged with shooting a cotton manufacturer, but have never been granted a trial, have been removed to a Red Cross Hospital, after being subjected to frightful tortures in prison by order of Chief of Police Scholkevic of Lodz. Both of the prisoners were injured internally by their torture; their fingers are broken and their bodies are covered with wounds. Shultz has a broken shoulder-blade and both arms suffered similarly when he was in the hands of his persecutors. The torturers placed iron rods between the fingers of their victims and then squeezed their fingers together with ropes. Later the hands of the prisoners were bound behind their backs and they were hoisted to the ceiling of the room in which the tortures took place by means of pulleys and ropes. When near the ceiling they were allowed to fall to the floor. Both prisoners were whipped daily with leather thongs, although Engart was able to prove an alibi, showing his innocence of the crime charged against him.

Girls Dance Can-Can.

Wilmington, Pa., Oct. 18.—This village, the special pride of George Westinghouse, is almost strangled over a scandal. It is alleged that forty of the town's business men, many of them church members in good standing, did on last Saturday night, give an entertainment which would put a Seely dinner to shame. Five girls from a carnival company, it is said, were the principal attraction. They danced the "hooshee-koochie" and the "can-can. Two cops, listening at the door of Carpenters' Hall, heard the thrumming of Turkish drums and the tinkling of tambourines in the suggestive music of the harem. One climbed a telegraph pole. He clung there long enough to count the audience, and to remark that the dancers were in danger of contracting pneumonia. There were shouts which indicated that something besides water was served to the revelers. The cops called several citizens, who also took a peek. Now every business man who was out late Saturday night is trying to prove an alibi.

Bear up Tree Three Days and Two Nights.

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 18.—Clarence Klinger while on hunting in the woods near Trout run Saturday night treed a black bear. Though he built a fire the reflection did not disclose Bruin in his hiding place, so Klinger crawled in at the foot of the tree until dawn. Then he remembered that there is a penalty of $25 for shooting on Sunday. He knew that if he were to leave the tree the bear would come down and escape. He could see the animal close against the trunk of the tree, about thirty feet above ground and he determined to have the bear. There was no other way than to remain on guard, and this he did until 6 o'clock Monday morning, when, in the gray dawn, he drew a bead on the black heap up in the tree and let drive. There was a scratching and struggling for a minute and then the bear, badly wounded, came tumbling down. A second shot killed it. The bear weighed 287 pounds.

Sullivan Defeats Burns.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 18.—After twenty rounds of the fiercest kind of fighting, Jack Sullivan of Boston last night was given the decision over Tommy Burns of Detroit. Sullivan had all the best of the fight, throughout, battering Burns at will. When the fight ended, Sullivan had Burns all but out, and had nearly closed both his eyes and had reduced his face to a mass of bruised and bleeding flesh. Sullivan was handicapped by weight, weighing 153 pounds, compared with the younger man's 159 pounds. In the last five rounds Burns resorted to stalling and holding in order to avoid a knock out. Sullivan bore no marks after the battle. It was announced last night arrangements had been made to give the winner of last night's contest a battle with Jack O'Brien.

Investigating, she found a hen-hawking trying to get away with a fat pullet. Mrs. Reinsnyder deftly threw her rolling-pin at the marauder, breaking its wing and smashing its ribs. So pleased at her marksmanship was her husband that he bought her a new dress. Saturday a big hawk was seen hovering over the yard of a Mr. Yeakel, in lower Milford. Miss Reinsnyder, a young kitten and made off with it. Hawks are more than ordinarily plentiful this year. On one barn on the road to Seiberling's nine hawks are nailed across one side of the structure, all of which have been shot this fall.

The Alexandria County Case.
The case brought in the United States District Court by Mr. John A. Lamb to determine whether Alexandria County is a part of Virginia or the District of Columbia was again before Judge Waddill in Richmond yesterday afternoon. The judge postponed his decision until this morning. The prisoners, whose liberty is involved, John C. Nelson and James La Fontaine, were in court and were represented by Mr. Lamb, who applied for a writ of habeas corpus for their release. Attorney-General Anderson, and Mr. Crandall Mackey, Commonwealth's attorney of Alexandria, county were present in advocacy of their motion to quash that of Mr. Lamb for a habeas corpus, and after considerable cross-firing between counsel the court said he would take the whole matter under advisement and render his decision today.

The poolroom at Jackson City will not be open today, and any one who crosses the river from Washington with the intention of "playing the ponies" will be taken into custody by one of Crandall Mackey's deputies and charged with vagrancy. Such is a statement made by Mr. Mackey, Commonwealth's attorney of the county, shortly after his return from Richmond last evening. Mr. Mackey said Judge Waddill declared that had he known that the accused men were running an openly illegal resort he would never have even considered granting the restraining writ. The court declared he had given the impression that the place in question was a bona-fide telegraph company, and censured the attorney for the defense for deceiving him. Mr. Mackey said: "These men know perfectly well that to open their doors again is to invite a raid, arrest, and probable conviction, that they are afraid. I told Judge Waddill that should they open again I would immediately make a raid, and he expressed his approval of such a course."

Richmond, Va., Oct. 18.—Judge Waddill today sustained the motion of the Commonwealth's attorney in the Alexandria county cases to quash the proceedings brought by Nelson and La Fontaine and denied a writ of error applied for by the latter's counsel. The court approved the application to the Supreme Court for such a writ and suspended judgment in the case until Monday.

The Presidential Train.

The President was in the last car—the "Signal"—and as the train passed by the depot he appeared on the rear platform and acknowledged the hearty cheers which were given by the assembled company of about fifty people. The train arrived at Richmond about 12:30 where the President was accorded a hearty welcome by a large representation of the people of that city. There was a parade of the Virginia National Guard, Confederate Veterans, cadets, civic organizations and children of public schools. The presidential special will leave about 7 p. m. for Raleigh, N. C., where it will arrive at 1:30 tomorrow morning.

A Relic of By-gone Days.
Forty-six years ago last Sunday night John Brown made his fool-hardy attempt to free all the negroes in Virginia by starting a crusade in Harper's Ferry. Mr. Alfred Burton, a venerable resident of Bolivar, Md., is visiting Alexandria, and is a guest of Capt. A. J. Fair. He is carrying with him a laurel stick which belonged to the famous abolitionist, and which Mr. Burton captured with a number of pikes which Brown had brought to Virginia to distribute among negroes.

Killed Faithless Wife.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Frenzied by the sight of his wife in the arms of another, Patrick Mooney, a laborer, 36 years old, struck down the faithless wife and inflicted injuries which caused her death. The crime was committed in the second story front room of No. 2314 Callowhill street, shortly after 5 o'clock this morning, but nothing was said of the tragedy until 6:30 o'clock when the husband notified the police. Mooney was at once placed under arrest and when arraigned before Magistrate Beaton, in the Twenty-third and Brown street police station was committed without bail to await the action of the coroner. In explanation of his crime, Mooney stated that he did not intend to strike his wife, but on his return home early this morning, found James McCormick, a man of 30, in her room. Enraged he procured a poker and intended to strike down the man who stole away his wife's affections. As he was about to bring down the weapon his wife ran to the rescue of her companion and received the blow aimed at him. Finding the woman eager and willing to shield McCormick, Mooney directed his blows at her, and brought down the poker on her head several times. Ned McCormick, father of the man accused by Mooney, heard the fracas, and rushing into the room dragged Mooney away. Mrs. Mooney was put to bed, but no effort was made to examine her injuries. The husband was also quieted and persuaded to go to sleep.

Scottish Rite Masons.

The Supreme Council of the Southern Jurisdiction, Scottish Rite Masons, now in session in Washington, occupied all of yesterday with a discussion of the report from the committee on jurisprudence and legislation, making many vital changes in the constitution and statutes of the rite.

Many of the changes developed considerable discussion, one in particular, relating to citizenship, being so warmly debated that the committee decided to withhold the more serious consideration of the subject until today.
Among the changes which the new constitution and statutes will make are the following: Making the maximum age of honorary thirty-third degree members 35 instead of 40 years; adoption of an identification card system for Scottish Rite Masons, to be issued by the secretary general and countersigned by the secretaries of subordinate bodies; raising fees from the fourth to the thirty-third degree, inclusive, $15, making the fees in all those degrees cost $153.50.

Today the council will hear the report of the committee on nominations and the revised report on citizenship.
The Royal Order of Scotland gave its annual banquet last night at the New Willard Hotel. It was attended by upwards of 300 prominent Masons from all sections of the United States and Canada.

Right to Use Wharves.

In the United States Circuit Court in Richmond yesterday, Judge Waddill handed down an opinion affecting the rights of the public to the use of the wharves in the navigable rivers of the State, and especially in Rappahannock river.

Judge Waddill, in his opinion, states that though the wharves are the individual property of the several owners, by no means follows that they are barred to citizens desiring to use the wharves to reach the means of transportation upon and over said river, or owners of such methods of transportation plying the waters of the river, the obligation of each one being to render and pay to the wharf owners reasonable wharfage and charges for the use of his property, under such proper and reasonable regulations as might be imposed either by law or by the owner of the property.

He further states that wharves belong to a class of property in which the public is concerned, and as such the government has always reserved the right, as between its citizens, to regulate and control.

Runaway Accident.

Walter Barrow, 21 years old, son of David Barrow, a farmer of Frederick county, lies at the Memorial Hospital in Winchester, in a critical condition as the result of injuries received in a runaway accident late Monday evening. For five hours after the accident the young man was unconscious. He was a mass of cuts and bruises, one arm was broken, and the skin was scraped from both sides of his head and his face. Harrow was returning to his home in the country after having hauled a wagon load of apples to Winchester. When a mile south of town his two horses ran out of control. The young man was unable to control them, and they dashed at a sweeping gallop down a steep hill, crashing into a four-horse wagon at the bottom, and smashing it to pieces. Barrow was thrown to the ground, and in front of his wagon, which passed over his prostrate form, two wheels going over his head. Unconscious he was put in an ambulance and hurried to the hospital.

The Banners Paraded.

In the miles of decorations which will meet the gaze of President Roosevelt in Richmond today the Confederate colors, from present indications, will occur only once. Three small silken flags of the "Lost Cause" fly from the front of the hall of E. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, but they are so surrounded by the voluminous folds of the Stars and Stripes as to be scarcely noticeable. Thousands of small American flags were sent to the public schools to be delivered to the children, who will have holiday to greet the President.

Three Thousand Strike.

The strike of the driver boys at the Jeddah collieries of G. B. Markle & Co., at Hazleton, Pa., which occurred a few days ago, has resulted in the strike of 3,000 employees of the Markle Company. The boys quit work because they claimed that the wages they were receiving were under the standard. A committee waited upon the company and asked to have the matter adjusted. The superintendent of the company declined to consider the grievances of the drivers, on the ground that they had quit work before properly lodging their complaint, thereby violating one of the awards of the strike commission. A mass meeting was held Monday night, and in accordance with their decision, the miners suspended all work yesterday.

Why the Mystery Tale Succeeds.
The mystery element enters to a greater or less degree into fiction of every kind. Indeed, it is the base of all literary interest. Primarily we read a story "to see how it comes out," and, other things being equal, the story in which the element of suspense by deft construction and subtle shaping is most successfully maintained will be the most universally satisfying and popular. The mystery tale of today is a story in which the element of suspense is deliberately enlarged and emphasized until it dominates every other consideration in the story. Characterization, atmosphere, emotional values—all become subordinated to the great business of plot development. The marshaling of incident, the succession of climaxes in crescendo order, the cumulative sweep of the narrative while the secret of the outcome is carefully withheld, is the affair here. Like a periodic sentence of titanic size, the tale is unrolled until with the concluding paragraphs the meaning of all that has gone before is made clear.—Lee F. Hartman in Harper's Weekly.

Facts About Bananas.
Under very favorable circumstances a banana plant may give a stem of fruit in nine months, but it generally takes from fifteen to eighteen months for the average plantations to be in full bearing. The life of a plantation varies according to the fertility of its soil and topographical situation. Some soils may need a rest in six or seven years, while others may last practically forever, as in cases where periodically enriched by alluvial deposits. Sandy loam, through which water or rain will freely percolate, is the best soil for bananas. The stalk needs a large amount of rainfall for its successful development, but water must not be allowed to remain on the surface or immediately under the surface of the soil surrounding it, lest the water be heated by the tropical sun and become stagnant, in which case it will kill the plant.—Chicago Journal.

Toothbrushes.
"In the straight toothbrush one thigh bone of a beef twelve inches long and four in diameter will cut four perfect blanks. The same bone will cut only two of these fancy curved pieces. That's one thing that makes the difference in cost between plain and fancy," said a manufacturer. "When the bone is cut to length and shaped, bristles are hand drawn by wire or thread through the brush part, each group of bristles having its own leader. Then they are securely fastened, and the work is finished. When the bristles first go in they are fully three inches long. After being firmly secured they are cut down to the size required. What bristle is best? Well, in some respects that's a matter of taste. It is all hog bristle, but whether soft or hard depends on the user."

Diplomat and Philosopher.
A story is told in Paris of a diplomatist who represented a South American republic a few years ago. There had been so many revolutions at home that the financiers there had no time to send him his salary, but he took this misfortune philosophically, sold all the furniture of the legation except a bed, a table and some chairs and occupied one room with his principal attaché, who cooked the meals. Any one who called early on the minister would probably find him cleaning the boots. "What would you have?" he would say, waving a hand expressively. "My poor country is in another crisis and has forgotten us again, but when I go back I shall make a revolution and appoint myself president. Then we shall have our reward for all this self denial."

A Domestic Tragedy.
Divorces are frequently pronounced in America on the ground of incompatibility of temper. In England we do not go so far as that, but I have just heard of a case where an old family servant who married the gardener separated from her husband on exceedingly slight grounds. She said that he would insist on the glasses being turned upside down on the sideboard and that there should be antimacassars on the dining room chairs. And so, as they could not agree, the unhappy pair separated.—London News.

A Dareddevil Ride
often ends in a sad accident. To heal accidental injuries, use Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "A deep wound in my foot, from an accident," writes Theodore Schuele, of Columbus, O., "caused me great pain. Arnica Salve was helpful, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly healed it." Soothers and heals burns like magic. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Insomnia and Indigestion Cured.
"Last year I had a very severe attack of indigestion. I could not sleep at night and suffered most excruciating pains for three hours after each meal. I was troubled this way for about three months when I used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and received immediate relief," says John Dixon, Tullamore, Ontario, Canada.
